

Welcome Email Template

Stage: Onboarding — send after deal is confirmed, before kick-off questionnaire

Voice: Professional but warm. Confident. One clear next step.

Length target: Under 150 words.

Subject: Welcome — here's how we get started

Hi [First name],

Great to have you on board. [One sentence confirming what's been agreed — the package and the outcome it will achieve. Example: "We're building your client onboarding automation — the goal is to cut your intake process from two days to under two hours."]

Here's what happens next:

- I'll send a short questionnaire — takes about 10 minutes to fill in
- Once that's back, we kick off within 48 hours
- [Key milestone — e.g. "You'll have the first workflow running within three weeks"]

Any questions before we start, just reply here.

Drafting Notes

When populating this template, confirm you have:

- Client first name
- Package name or a plain-language description of what's being built
- A concrete outcome (lift from pipeline notes or discovery call notes)
- A realistic timeline (check intel/pricing.md for standard delivery windows per package)

Do not send. Save as Gmail draft and flag for Abderrahim's review.
